THIS Reader contains nearly 1500 different words. The Dictionary contains all the words occurring in the Reader, and some 4600 additional, or more than 6000 in all. It also has over 1500 sentences illustrating the meaning of the words. The Chinese scholar will find most of the words in the Dictionary that he will ordinarily meet with in reading or speaking.

The lessons in the Reader are graded as slowly, as the limited space, and introduction of as many new words as possible, would allow. The lessons are on a variety of subjects, and include a great many sentences used in ordinary conversation. Gospel truths have been introduced as far as practicable throughout; and the design of the whole is, not only to lead the scholar into the knowledge of the English language, but also of the truth. The Chinese portion is in the Canton dialect, which is the spoken language of this people in America, Australia and the Sandwich Islands. The object of using this dialect instead of the more elegant style of their language is to give the learner the meaning of the English, in plain and simple words, such as he himself would use in expressing the same thing.

THE QUARREL.

1. Un-der a great tree in the woods, two boys found a fine, large nut. As soon as they saw it, they both ran to get the nut.

2. But one boy got there first, and picked it up. "It is mine," says the oth-er, "for I was the first to see it."

3. No, it is mine," says the first, "for I was the first to pick

4. As they could not agree whose it should be, they called an older boy. He said, "I will settle this quarrel."

5. He took the nut and broke it. He took out the kernel that was in it.

6. He broke the shell of the nut into two parts as nearly equal as he could.

7. "This half of the shell," said he, "belongs to the boy who first saw the nut."

3. Then he brought him to the house, and said to one of his ser-vants, "Bring forth the best robe and put it on him; and put a ring on his hand, and shoes on his feet; and let us eat and be mer-ry. For this my son was dead, and is a-live a-gain; and was lost

THE CATS AND THE MONKEY.

1. A fa-ble is a sto-ry in which an-i-mals, or oth-er ob-jects, are sup-posed to talk, though they nev-er do so. Here is the fa-ble of the cats and the monk-ey.

2. Two hun-gry cats, hav-ing stol-en some cheese, could not a-gree how to di-vide it. So they called in a monk-ey to de-cide the case.

3. "Let me see," says, the monk-ey, "this slice weighs more than the oth-er." So then, he bit off a large piece in or-der, as he said, to make them bal-ance.

4. The oth-er scale was now too heav-y. This gave the up-right judge a fine ex-cuse to take a se-cond mouth-ful of cheese.

THE BEAUTIFUL WORLD.

1. The world is beau-ti-ful. If we look up, we see the blue sky. If we look down, we see the green grass.

2. The sky is like a cur-tain spread o-ver our heads. The grass is like a car-pet un-der our feet. The bright sun is like a ball of fire to give us light.

3. Who made this beau-ti-ful world? God made the world. He said, "Let there be light, and there was light."

4. God made the air we breathe, and the clouds that give us rain. He made the wa-ter that fills the o-ceans, riv-ers, and seas. He made the dry land al-so.

5. He made the grass, the pret-ty flow-ers, and the use-ful plants. He made the trees, that grow up-on the land, and bear the beau-ti-ful fruit.

6. God made the sun, and placed it in the sky and bade it shine all day. He made the moon to shine at night, and filled the sky with stars.

7. God made the cat-tle, sheep, birds, fish-es, and every liv-ing thing. Last of all God made man also.

THE LAME DOG.

1. One day a man went to take a walk in the town. On his way home, he saw a lit-tle dog which had hurt his leg.

2. The poor dog was so lame, that he could not lift his foot with-out great pain. This kind man saw there was no one to take pit-y on the poor dog.

3. So he took him in his arms, car-ried him home, and bound up his leg. He fed him, and kept him for two days.

4. He then sent the dog out of his house, to his old home. As it was not his own dog, he had no right to keep him.

5. But, each day, the dog came back for this kind man to dress his leg. This the dog did, till he be-came quite well.

6. In a few weeks, he came back, and brought with him a dog that was lame. The dog that had been lame, first gave the man a look, and then the lame dog a look.

7. He seemed to say, "You made my lame leg well, and now I wish you to do the same for this poor dog.

8. The kind man took care of this dog al-so. He kept him in his house till he was well, and could go home.

A FOX STORY.

1. The fox is very cun-ning. When any one is very cun-ning, we say, "he is as cun-ning as a fox." I will tell you a story about the cun-ning of the fox.

2. Some dogs were once in chase of a fox. They came very near him, and it seemed as though they would catch him. There was no hole, or oth-er place, for the fox to hide in.

3. What could the fox do? This is what the fox did. There was a low stone wall not far off, and the fox ran to-ward it as fast as he could go. But near-er and near-er came the dogs.

4. When the fox had got to the wall, they were close to him. The fox made a jump, and went o-ver. But as soon as he was on the oth-er side he crept to the wall, and lay down close to it.

5. The dogs, in their haste, went o-ver both wall and fox at a jump, and ran straight on. They were going so fast that they could not stop, and they did not see where the fox had hid.

6. As soon as the dogs were o-ver, the fox, quick as a flash, made a leap back over the wall, and was soon out of sight. On went the dogs, but they never, saw the fox again.

7. Was not that a cun-ning fox? He knew how to cheat the dogs, and he saved his life by it.

THE BEST REVENGE

1. Two men once lived in the south of Af-ri-ca. They had a quar-rel, and be-came bit-ter en-e-mies to each other.

2. Af-ter a-while, one of them met a lit-tle girl, which be-longed to his en-e-my. It was in the woods, at some dis-tance from her fath-er's house.

3. He seized her, and cut off both of her hands. Then he said, "I have had my re-venge," and sent her home scream-ing, with her bleed-ing wrists.

4. Years passed a-way. The lit-tle girl had grown up to be al-most a young wo-man. One day a poor, old, gray-head-ed man came to her fath-er's door, and asked for some-thing to eat.

5. The girl knew him at once as the cru-el man, who had cut off her hands. She went into the house, and or-dered the ser-vant to give him some bread and milk.

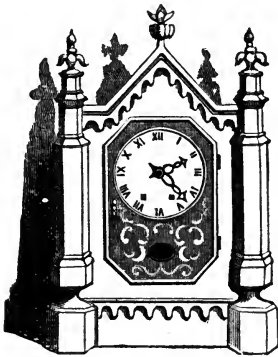

6. When he had fin-ished eat-ing, she then un-cov-ered her wrists. Hold-ing them up, she said, "I have had my re-venge." Thus she re-pea-t-ed the very words he had used.

7. Why did this girl act in this way? Be-cause, in the mean-time, she had heard the gos-pel of Je-sus, and had be-came a Christ-ian. She had learned what the Bi-ble says, "If thine en-e-my hun-ger feed him; if he thirst, give him drink."

8. This is the best kind of re-venge. You should not re-tur-n e-vil for e-vil. You should re-tur-n good for e-vil. The Bi-ble says. "O-ver-come e-vil with good."

THE ALARM-CLOCK.

1. There was a man, who found it not eas-y to wake in the morn-ing, as ear-ly as he wished. So he brought an a alarm-clock.

2. The own-er of these clocks can make them strike, with a loud noise, at any hour that he pleas-es. The man placed this clock at the head of his bed. At the right time it woke him up.

3. He a-rose at once. This he did for sev-er-al weeks. The clock did its du-ty faith-ful-ly, and was plain-ly heard so long as it was o-bey-ed.

4. But, af-ter a time, the man grew tired of ear-ly ris-ing. When he was waked by the noise, he on-ly turned over, and went to sleep again.

5. In a few days, the clock lost its pow-er to wake him. It spoke just the same as ev-er; but he did not hear it, be-cause he was in the hab-it of not o-bey-ing it.

6. The clock was of no use. He might as well be with-out one. So he re-solved, that when he heard the sound, he would jump up right a-way.

7. Just so it is with con-science. It is God's voice in the heart. It tells us what is wrong, and what is right. If we o-bey its voice, then we shall al-ways hear con-science when it speaks in the heart

8. But if we do not listen to its voice, conscience will lose its power. If we get into the habit of not heeding when it warns us, then, by-and-by we shall cease to hear it.

THE CRUEL BOY PUNISHED.

1. An i-dle boy was one day sit-ting on the steps of a door. He had a stick in one hand, and a piece of bread and but-ter in the oth-er.

2. As he was eat-ing, he saw a dog ly-ing near, and called him. The dog hear-ing him-self kind-ly spok-en to, wag-ged his tail and came up.

3. The boy held out his piece of bread, and as the dog was a-bout to take it, the naugh-ty fel-low struck him on the nose with the stick. The dog howled, and ran a-way as fast as he could.

4. The cru-el boy laughed heart-i-ly at the trick he had played. At this mo-ment, a man on the oth-er side of the street, who had seen him, called the boy.

5. Show-ing him a half dol-lar, he asked the boy if he would like to have it. "Yes," said the boy, "to be sure I would." "Come and get it, then," said the man.

6. The boy ran to him, and stretched out his hand for the mon-ey. Then the man gave him a rap on the hand with his cane. The boy roared with pain.

7. "Why did you do that?" said the boy. "I did not hurt you, or ask you for mon-ey." "Why did you strike the poor dog just now?" said the man. "Had he hurt you, or asked you for bread? I have served you just as you served him."

8. The bad boy hung his head, and felt very much a-shamed. If you treat oth-ers bad-ly, they are apt to treat you bad-ly. Be kind to oth-ers, and they will be kind to you.

 THE WHALE.

1. The whale is a very large an-i-mal. There is no fish or beast, so large as a whale. They have a large mouth, but so small a throat that they can't eat large fish.

2. Their tongue is very fat, and yields a great deal of oil. Their eyes are small, and have lids to them. The com-mon whale is from for-ty to six-ty feet long.

3. Whales are very fond of their young. If they are in dan-ger, the whale takes them on her back, and puts up her fins so that they cannot fall off.

4. They have a large and strong tail, which helps them to swim. When they are at play, or in a rage from pain, they lash the sea into a foam with their tail.

5. Ships are sent out from some of our ports to take whales, for the sake of the oil they yield. These ships are some-times gone two or three years. They kill the whale with a spear which they throw at it.

6. When the whale is struck it dives down in-to the sea, far out of sight; but it soon comes up to the top for want of air. The men are on the watch for this.

7. As soon as they see it rise, they strike it with their spears till it dies. When it is dead they cut it up, and put the oil which it yields in-to casks. If the men find man-y whales, they come back with so much oil, as to feel quite rich.

[FORM OF A LETTER.]

Oakland, Cal.,

Dec. 20th, 1881.

My Dear Teacher:

It seems a long time since I have seen you. I hope that you are very well. I do not forget all your kindness to me. You were very kind to teach me about the gospel of Jesus. I used to worship idols. Now I know God, and love to worship Him. My heart trusts in Jesus as my Saviour. He died for my sins. I want to do right, and pray God every day to help me. Please pray for me. I shall be very glad to get a letter from you. God bless you. If we do not meet again on earth, may we meet in heaven.

Your affectionate friend,

Lum Hay.

Jackson, Cal.,

July 10th, 1881.
My Dear Friend:

I arrived here safely last week on Friday. I have no friends here, and feel very lonely. But the people where I live are very kind to me. There is no school here for the Chinese. I miss the school very much, and the Chinese Church too. I hope the brethren are all well. Give my kind regards to all of them, and to the teachers who were so kind to teach me English, and also about the gospel of Jesus. May God bless you all. Write to me soon.

Yours very sincerely,

Wong Tong.

P. S. Direct to Wong Tong,

Care Mr. John Reed,

THE LORD'S PRAYER.

Our Fa-ther, which art in heav-en, hal-lowed be thy name. Thy king-dom come. Thy will be done on earth as it is in heav-en. Give us this day our dai-ly bread. And for-give us our debts as we for-give our debt-ors. And lead us not in-to temp-ta-tion, but de-liv-er us from e-vil. For thine is the king-dom, and the pow-er, and the glo-ry for ev-er. A-men.

THE CREED.

I be-lieve in God the Fa-ther Al-migh-ty, Ma-ker of heav-en and earth; and in Je-sus Christ, his on-ly Son, our Lord, who was con-ceived by the Holy Ghost, born of the vir-gin Ma-ry; suf-fered un-der Pon-tius Pi-late, was cru-ci-fied, dead and bur-ied; he de-scend-ed in-to hell; the third day he rose from the dead; he as-cend-ed in-to heav-en, and sit-teth on the right hand of God the Fath-er Al-migh-ty; from thence he shall come to judge the quick and the dead.

I be-lieve in the Ho-ly Ghost; the ho-ly cath-o-lic church; the com-mun-ion of saints; the for-give-ness of sins; the res-ur-rec-tion of the bod-y; and life ev-er-last-ing. A-men.
